Notes from HTML Review

Marie Foss

Project Title: Walker Evans Website

- Love the typefaces and use of selected color
- Nice use of images –covering side to side is great
- Text needs to be broken up a little –too wide and difficult to read at this point
- Fix the links / header?

Champions of human experience.

People problems are business problems. Some might confuse our deep understanding of human beings for magic, but we're really just experts at discovering and solving for what people need from the businesses that serve them.

For nearly two decades, we've perfected the discipline of observing users in the real-world contexts we're designing for—whether it's in an ore mine 1 kilometer below ground or on an airplane 10 kilometers above it.

How we work